NO. 2002-H. WILLIAM C. FREEMAN

The readers of the Mornng Tribune should be incrested in a man who has lifted himself up by his own boot-straps and made a clean success in this big city by sticking to a principle in business (which is a Price Expected to Go to 25 very good principle) of giving to the people always uniform quality, prices and service. I think you are interested in such a man: therefore let me tell you about HATCH, THE SALTO-NUTS (regis- $810,000,000 more for their sugar this tered) and CHOCOLATE year than they would have had to pay had President Wilson heeded the ad-

When a man succeeds with one store on Broadway, he is going some-but when he succeeds with three on this critical and particular street he is going some more. And then when he starts another store in Herald Square, 6th Ave. at 35th St., and succeeds with that, too-he certainly has "arrived" in this big Hatch is now coming to the fore very rapidly because the SALTO-NUTS and CHOCO-LATES he sells to the people are accepted as being 100 per cent in quality and taste, and it is only a question of time when the number of stores will be increased. The Hatch idea is to establish stores in neighboroods as he can afford to do so, aking it easy for people to buy his Specialties.

Prices? Salto-Nuts, 14 varieties, $1.25 to $3.00 per lb.

Italian Chocolates, $1.50 per ib.; Supreme Chocolates, $2.00 per lb.; Matinee Idols (Nutted Chocolates), $2.00 per lb.

But the President, who, although he urged Congress to remain on the job and attack the cost of living problem, turned a deaf ear to Mr. Hoover and listened to the advice of Professor Taussig, chairman of the Federal Tariff Commission, and the only member of the Sugar Board who opposed taking over the Cuban crop.

Mr. Houver said he thought the Cuban crop could be bought at 5½ cents, the price paid a year ago. The beet sugar growers were satisfied with 10½ cents. The Louisians cane growers wanted more money and the board was inclined to permit them to sell their crop to the candy makers and other manufacturers at a high price.
Their plan, they said, would insure the household consumer his supply at fair price and at the same time give the Louisiana growers a price that would compensate them for a one-third crop.

Federal Board's Power to An- Baron Feng Kuo-Chang, Noted as Military Leader, Is Dead in Peking

PEKING. Tuesday, Dec. 30 (By The Associated Press) (Delayed).—Former President Feng Kuo-change of China died here to-day.

In a circular telegram Issued from his deathbed to warring governors he urged cessation of civil strife and reconciliation between the factions of the north and the south.

Baron Feng Kuo-change, whose death is announced from Peking, was elected Vice-President of the Chinese Republic in November. 1916, and was appointed Acting President by President Li Yuanhung when the latter resigned the post July 1, 1917. Later, when Li Yuanhung declined to resume office, fellowing an unsuccessful attempt of General Chang Hsun, a military leader, to restablish the monarchy, President Feng Kuo-chang retained his place as chief executive, holding it until he was succeeded in September, 1918, by Shu Shih-chang, who was regularly elected.

Baron Feng Kuo-chang was made a field marshal for his military exploits against revolutionists in China, the most conspicuous of which was the suppression of a rebellion in the summer of 1913. After the establishment of the republic and the promulgation of a constitution in 1912, he was appointed chief of the President's military council. Prior to that he served as director of the Military Council of the General Staff and commanded the First Imperial Army. In this latter canacity he succeeded in suppression a of the General Staff and commanded the First Imperial Army. In this latter capacity he succeeded in suppressing a revolutionary uprising at Hanyang in November, 1911, for which he was rewarded with the rank of Baron of the Second Class.

President Feng Kuo-chang approved the decision of the Chinese Cabinet in August, 1917, to declare war on Germany and Austria and asserted his willingness to coöperate with the Allies in prosecuting the war.
